Baltimore, MD. Chairman and CEO of VIPeVents Concierge LLC, Larry White Sr., hosted an Inaugural Holiday Cocktail Reception and TOY Drive Sunday, December 15th. The Reception and TOY Drive was held at Sullivan's Steakhouse, located on East Pratt Street.

The Reception and TOY Drive gave people the opportunity to celebrate the Holiday season. The TOY Drive provided holiday toys and gifts to children and less fortunate youth in the Baltimore community.

Some of the DMV's finest Entrepreneurs and Business Leaders were in attendance for this special event, including Attorney General Doug Gansler, Andrew Pruski, a few members of our Baltimore Ravens, and Baltimore's Very Own Former Original Harlem Globetrotter, Charles "Choo" Smith.

All guests brought at least one unwrapped toy or donations to benefit some local charities in the Baltimore and Washington areas.

That evening at Sullivan's Steakhouse, Choo had the audience oohing and awing as he went into character during his Globetrotter performance. After dazzling the crowd with an array of basketball tricks, Choo went from animated to passionate and detailed in speech as he addressed the people about what he and his organization is doing today.

Love It, Learn It, Live It, Lead It!

There were a host of influential speakers at the event, but it was Choo Smith who was given the opportunity to close out a successful event as the final speaker. Choo was the Special VIP Guest for this event.

Choo Smith Youth Empowerment continues to work diligently to change the lives of today's young people. Choo's love for the game of basketball has definitely transferred over to the love he has for young people and people in general.

Following his 4L Philosophy (Love It, Learn It, Live It, Lead It!), Choo proves day in and day out that he truly loves serving others, has learned how important it is, lives to help the world, and leads by example.
